STEVEN TROCH HARMONICA ACE

Troch is a great front man, his vocals and harp are top-notch! This guy is the real deal, playing authentic blues in an up front and authentic way!

Steve Jones, president of the Crossroads Blues Society, Illinois

Hohner endorser Steven Troch is a Jack-of-all-trades and a master of some, sings like he means it, blows a badass harmonica and writes his own songs. This winner of two international harmonica contests draws inspiration from the old bluesmasters and players like Gary Primich, William Clarke, Steve Baker & Joe Filisko. Steven embraces the exciting acoustic and amplified bluesounds of Chicago and combines them with different influences, always adding his own personal touch. Steven has amazed critics and audiences alike with his straight-ahead music and he's been noted for his own interpretations of blues material. Steven has played all over Europe and in the US. He has backed up several international artists and has played harmonica on more than 15 albums.

STEVEN TROCH HARMONICA ACE

"He's got the VIBE! Normally It takes years to get that but Troch seems to have been born with that original inner voice." - Mark Hummel, Grammy nominated, Blues Music Award winning harmonica player

BADASS!! - Joe Filisko, Masterplayer & Custom harmonica pioneer

Steven Troch's totally controls this small instrument. Hitting every note with precision and punch combined with a strong sense of swing. - ABOUT BLUES, Ryan Lovano

"I really dig the fact that Troch appreciates the value of occasional "ugly" in the right spot." - Rick Estrin, Blues Music Award winner 2013 "Best Harmonica"

One of baddest bluesharp players I know - Bill Barrett, diatonic and chromatic harpwizard
